

EBay Sucks!!!!

Well, looks like I won't be getting a Xbox 360 from Best Buy today. Seems that the lines filled up for all available units at about 10:30PM last night. I got to the Best Buy in Conroe at 5:30AM and it was hopeless. Worst thing was that it seems that the people in line where buying them to put them on EBay. I'm OK with missing out on the new Xbox 360 if I know it's going to a loving home, but it really irritates me that they are just going to be on EBay so someone who doesn't even want one can turn an extra couple hundred dollars. I guess the only way I can console myself is to image that all those people didn't have any money for Christmas and this was the only way they could get some money. Merry Christmas to them. I won't be one giving them the money though. I'm saying NO to EBay.
