Well, we survived another Christmas. It was wonderful. Friday night the 23rd we went to Sarahpoo's parents and had the normal torturously slow gift opening marathon, then spent the night and did stockings the next morning. Everyone got lots of neat stuff, and we had many laughs.

Christmas eve we participated in our church play and it went very well. We had 700-800 people attend (actually, we just found out there were 1100+) and the jumbled mess that was practice a couple of days earlier dissapeared and a beautiful event happend. Weird how things seem to gel at the last moment.

Christmas morning we got Amberpoo up at around 7:15 and starting in on her presents. At about 7:25 Mammy and Papa showed up and got to watch het tear into her gifts. I got some cool shake flashlights that require no batteries.

Christmas afternoon we went over to my Cousins house to celebrate with my Mom. Good food, and great gifts happened there as well.

Pictures should be up sometime tomorrow. Now I just need to figure out where to put all of this stuff!!!!
